

Transformed by the experience and empowered by universal truth, they now face the ultimate question: return to the world they once knew... or risk it all and try to heal it?

Guided on their journey by mentors, elders, and unexpected allies, Garrett and Sandra must confront every belief they've ever held—about health, politics, parenting, and even the nature of reality itself.

"This book is the seed that will flourish into the new earth."
—Ra of Earth

Spiritual evolution meets political revolution in this gripping tale of awakening, rebellion, and the high-stakes quest to redirect the future of humanity.

More than just an incredibly inspiring read, Brian is inviting readers to join Club Okablo after finishing the book — to bring the vision of Okablo to life. (The motto calls are uplifting & connecting.)

OKABLO (modern-Tribal Village) is a new model of modern living built on ancient tribal principles. A place to live together in harmony with Nature, each other, and ourselves — not just for our lifetime, but for generations to come.

Brian Costello is a father of 3 from Long Island, NY, deeply immersed in all aspects of spiritual development and holistic healing. A 'New Earth explorer,' he's determined to discover new ways to experience life together.

Learn more & get the book: www.theprimordialcode.com

* Listen to full audiobook free on Spotify, YouTube, + Apple Podcasts!

This is a Seed Zine

Copy it. Fold it. Plant it.

The Primordial Code

A hidden land.
A sacred code.
The last hope for humanity.

- a Seed Zine by: Rebecca Roots
- With: Brian Costello

Last fall I read a book that resonated so deeply, I'm creating this Zine to share it!

Not only was it a page-turner, but each day I read, the content enriched my days:

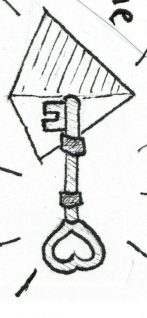

- my energy,
- my thoughts,
- my actions,
- my heart,
- my spirit — deeply nourishing my being.

Here is the synopsis, written by author Brian Costello:

Recruited into an underground operation, they are transported to Okablaya and taught The Primordial Code, an ancient intelligence powerful enough to reshape society and awaken the soul of civilization itself.

Enter Garrett and Sandra, ordinary Americans swept into an extraordinary mission.

For centuries, the secret society of Okablaya has thrived in silence. An untouched haven of peace, prosperity, and natural law. Here, timeless wisdom merges with modern technology to create a way of life most claim to be impossible.

But now, with the Western world on the precipice of collapse, the Okablo people face a fateful choice:

remain unseen or step out of the shadows and lead humanity home?